

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

2024 COLOGUARD CLASSIC BY EXACT SCIENCES FIELD NEARLY SET TOURNAMENT ANNOUNCES FIVE SPONSOR EXEMPTIONS

Tucson, Ariz. (March 1, 2024) – Cameron Beckman, Ho-sung Choi, Jonathan Kaye, Ted Purdy and Boo Weekly have received the five sponsor exemptions to play in the 2024 Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences, March 8th – 10th at La Paloma Country Club. The tournament hosts, the Tucson Conquistadores, and title and presenting sponsor, Exact Sciences, awarded the five exemptions on Friday morning, one week ahead of the start of the PGA TOUR Champions tournament. The final three playing spots in the 2024 Cologuard Classic field will be determined on Monday, March 4th at the Cologuard Classic Qualifier at Oro Valley Country Club.

The five exemptions add to a strong field of competitors, with 2023 Cologuard Classic champion David Toms returning to defend his title against 2018 tournament champion Steve Stricker; 2022 Charles Schwab Cup winner Steven Alker; 2022 Cologuard Classic champion Miguel Angel Jimenez; Cologuard ambassador Jerry Kelly; as well as World Golf Hall of Fame members Fred Couples, Ernie Els, Retief Goosen and Colin Montgomerie. Padraig Harrington and Stewart Cink will make their Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences debuts, while Davis Love III will be playing in the event for the second time (2021). Other past tournament champions currently in the field include Marco Dawson (2015), Woody Austin (2016), Tom Lehman (2017), Mark O'Meara (2019), and Kevin Sutherland (2021). 2020 Cologuard Classic champion Bernhard Langer will miss this year's tournament due to a recent torn Achilles tendon injury.

Beckman will be playing in his second Cologuard Classic after placing T54 in 2022. He has one PGA TOUR Champions victory, coming at the 2020 Dick's Sporting Goods Open. Choi will be making his PGA TOUR Champions debut. The 50-year-old from South Korea with the unique golf swing has five international victories, including the 2019 Heiwa PGM Championship. Phoenix resident Jonathan Kaye and Tucson resident Ted Purdy will both be making their Cologuard Classic debuts. Purdy, a University of Arizona alum, turned 50 this past August and competed in two PGA TOUR Champions events during the 2023 season, the Shaw Charity Classic and the Pure Insurance Championship. Weekly turned 50 last July and has since competed in 10 PGA TOUR Champions events, with a top 25 finish at the SAS Championship in October.

The 2024 Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences will feature a 78-player field competing for a $2.2 million purse, with $330,000 to the winner. PGA TOUR Champions golfers had until Friday, March 1 at 5 p.m. to commit to play in the Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences. The field currently includes the following golfers:

Golf fans donating non-perishable food items or making a minimum $5 donation to the Community Food Bank of Southern Arizona will receive a complimentary general admission ticket to Saturday, March 9th of the 2024 Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences, compliments of presenting sponsor Exact Sciences. Non-perishable food items and monetary donations will be collected at the PGA TOUR Champions tournament's main entrance on Saturday, March 9th, in exchange for a complimentary general admission ticket. In tandem with this program, Saturday, March 9th is also Dress in Blue Day at the Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences, commemorating National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month. Fans, players, caddies and announcers are encouraged to wear blue to help raise awareness of colon cancer.

Over the past seven years, charity and community impact have been at the core of the Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences. Southern Arizona youth sports and colon cancer awareness initiatives have benefitted from tournament proceeds, including more than $3.1 million since the 2018 tournament, the first with Cologuard® as title sponsor.

The Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences PGA TOUR Champions golf tournament raises awareness of colorectal cancer, highlights different screening options, and honors those affected by the disease. For more information on the Cologuard Classic, visit www.CologuardClassic.com. This globally recognized tournament is made possible by title sponsor Exact Sciences, the Tucson Conquistadores, volunteers, fans, key community partnerships as well as organizations such as The University of Arizona and Operation Hat Trick.

About Cologuard®

The Cologuard test was approved by the FDA in August 2014, and results from Exact Sciences' prospective 90-site, point-in-time, 10,000-patient pivotal trial were published in the New England Journal of Medicine in March 2014. The Cologuard test is included in the American Cancer Society's (2018) colorectal cancer screening guidelines and the recommendations of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (2021) and National Comprehensive Cancer Network (2016). The Cologuard test is indicated to screen adults 45 years of age and older who are at average risk for colorectal cancer by detecting certain DNA markers and blood in the stool. Do not use the Cologuard test if you have had precancer, have inflammatory bowel disease and certain hereditary syndromes, or have a personal or family history of colorectal cancer. The Cologuard test is not a replacement for colonoscopy in high-risk patients. The Cologuard test performance in adults ages 45-49 is estimated based on a large clinical study of patients 50 and older. The Cologuard test performance in repeat testing has not been evaluated.

The Cologuard test result should be interpreted with caution. A positive test result does not confirm the presence of cancer. Patients with a positive test result should be referred for colonoscopy. A negative test result does not confirm the absence of cancer. Patients with a negative test result should discuss with their doctor when they need to be tested again. Medicare and most major insurers cover the Cologuard test. For more information about the Cologuard test, visit www.cologuard.com. Rx only.

About The Tucson Conquistadores
