According to Feeding America, Arizona has the third-highest rate of food insecurity among western states. To help combat the pervasiveness of hunger in Tucson, Exact Sciences is partnering with Community Food Bank of Southern Arizona to make an even bigger impact.

“At Exact Sciences, we believe that a commitment to community makes everyone stronger,” said Everett Cunningham, Chief Commercial Officer of Exact Sciences. “We hope this partnership gives all Tucson community members the opportunity to attend this truly special event, while simultaneously benefiting a great cause and fighting food insecurity in the Southern Arizona community.”

Over the past seven years, charity and community impact have been at the core of the Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences. Southern Arizona youth sports and Tucson-area colon cancer awareness initiatives have benefitted from tournament proceeds, including more than $3.1 million since the 2018 tournament, the first with Cologuard® as title sponsor.

“We’re grateful to have this support from the Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences,” says Malea Chavez, CEO of the Community Food Bank of Southern Arizona. “Hunger in southern Arizona is an enormous challenge and community partnerships can make a big difference, especially a high visibility event like the Cologuard Classic.”

In tandem with this program, Saturday, March 9th is also Dress in Blue Day at the Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences, commemorating National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month. Fans, players, caddies and announcers are encouraged to wear blue to help raise awareness of colon cancer.

The 2024 Cologuard Classic by Exact Sciences PGA TOUR Champions golf tournament is scheduled to be played March 8th – 10th at La Paloma Country Club in Tucson. Played each March, the Cologuard Classic kicks off national Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month, which raises awareness of colorectal cancer, highlights different screening options, and honors those affected by the disease. The 2024 tournament will feature a 78-player field competing for a $2.2 million purse, with $330,000 to the winner. David Toms is the defending Cologuard Classic champion. For more information on the Cologuard Classic, visit www.CologuardClassic.com.

About Cologuard®

The Cologuard test was approved by the FDA in August 2014, and results from Exact Sciences' prospective 90-site, point-in-time, 10,000-patient pivotal trial were published in the New England Journal of Medicine in March 2014. The Cologuard test is included in the American Cancer Society's (2018) colorectal cancer screening guidelines and the recommendations of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (2021) and National Comprehensive Cancer Network (2016). The Cologuard test is indicated to screen adults 45 years of age and older who are at average risk for colorectal cancer by detecting certain DNA markers and blood in the stool. Do not use the Cologuard test if you have had precancer, have inflammatory bowel disease and certain hereditary syndromes, or have a personal or family history of colorectal cancer. The Cologuard test is not a replacement for colonoscopy in high-risk patients. The Cologuard test performance in adults ages 45-49 is estimated based on a large clinical study of patients 50 and older. The Cologuard test performance in repeat testing has not been evaluated.

The Cologuard test result should be interpreted with caution. A positive test result does not confirm the presence of cancer. Patients with a positive test result should be referred for colonoscopy. A negative test result does not confirm the absence of cancer. Patients with a negative test result should discuss with their doctor when they need to be tested again. Medicare and most major insurers cover the Cologuard test. For more information about the Cologuard test, visit www.cologuard.com. Rx only.
